Hi Darius,

Pls find hereunder my reply back to EUME, FYI!

Can you pls get ready to file in Buffalo court within this Friday as schedule, guess even better within today? There is going to be a fight immediately as you can imagine after my reply to them. We shall show bill of prosecution to our customers within Monday to declare that we are protected by the law, in order to make our customers relax, as obviously EUME is going to send letters to disturb our customers in a few days only.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

Best regards!

HUNTER

Hi Sanjay,

I have been studying with our distributor in whole day about your email and proposal.

We had an amicable discussion on the phone yesterday, but the money you requested in this email was way too much. Your proposal is not acceptable, in particular since I am not infringing your patent and there is prior art out there (disclosing your invention) predating your patent's application disclosure priority date and therefore your patent should have never been granted by the Patent Office.

In contrast, you have been infringing my U.S. Patent No. US 10,574,071 B2 with many of your backpack products sold in the United States, including but not limited to, the following products:

EUME Genx Massager 15.6 inch Laptop Backpack and

EUME Barret Massager 15.6 inch Laptop Backpack

If you do not immediately stop infringing my patent I will pursue my legal rights to the full extent of the law.

We hope you can study once more your patent and comparing with our products which were under independant creations.

I wish to schedule another call with you on this Saturday(July 11th) 5:00pm India time again.

Looking forward to feeding back and speaking to you soon!

Regards,

Hunter
